

Revised Tunnel Website Prototype

Evan Tilley

UI Design

4/15/20

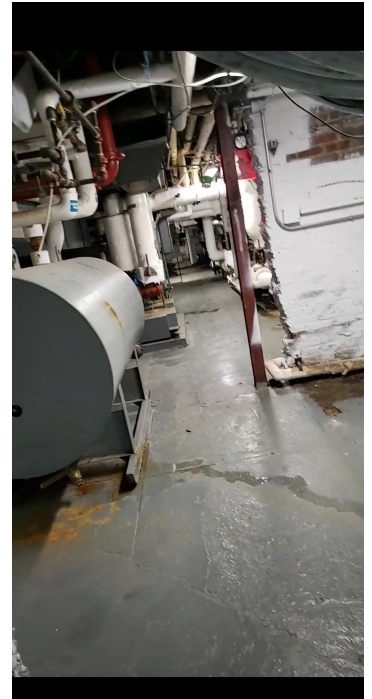

Tunnel Explorer

Hate searching through various forums and Reddit pages to simply find old and outdated information on Columbia's Sprawling Tunnel System? No need to worry!

Click here to get started!

Move to slide 3

Welcome to Tunnel Explorer's Virtual Tunnel Tour

- Red line = confirmed
- Yellow line = almost certainly exists
- Green line = holy grail

move to slide 4

Press to start the Tour!

OR

move to last saved slide

Resume your current tour

Think you've mastered the tunnels?

Click here to take The quiz!

0/100

Tunnel explorer progress bar!

move to slide 17

This bar slowly fills as users progress through the tour.

Back the map

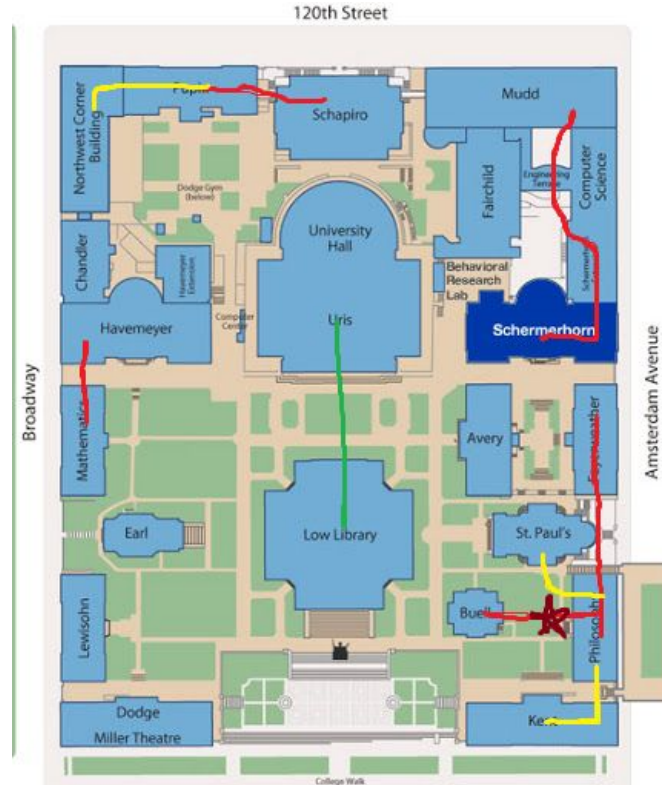

Philosophy

There are so many tunnels to explore at Columbia! A good place for an introductory tour is the Philosophy tunnels.

The maroon star on the map marks your current location.

Enter the Philosophy
Tunnels

move to next slide

Back the map

Philosophy Entrance

Entering the Tunnels

- Head over to the Philosophy building, right behind Kent library
- Enter and take the staircase in front of you all the way down to the bottom floor, where the door to the tunnels lies.

Continue

move to next slide

Back the map

Philosophy Tunnel Door

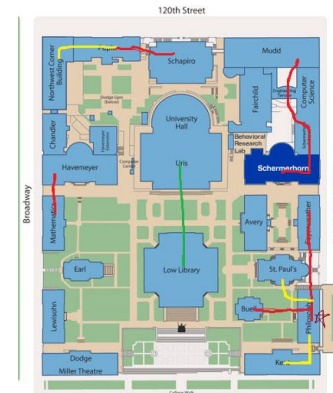

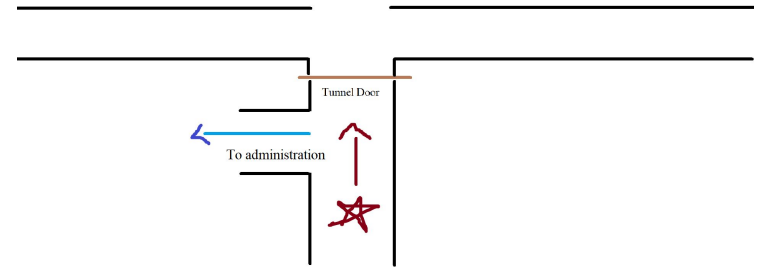

Entering the Tunnel Door

- The door to the tunnels will be in front of you. It is sometimes unlocked.
- Watch out for the administrative office on the way to the door, as they may get upset if they see you attempting to enter.
- If the door is unlocked, feel free to enter the Philosophy tunnels.

move to next slide

Enter

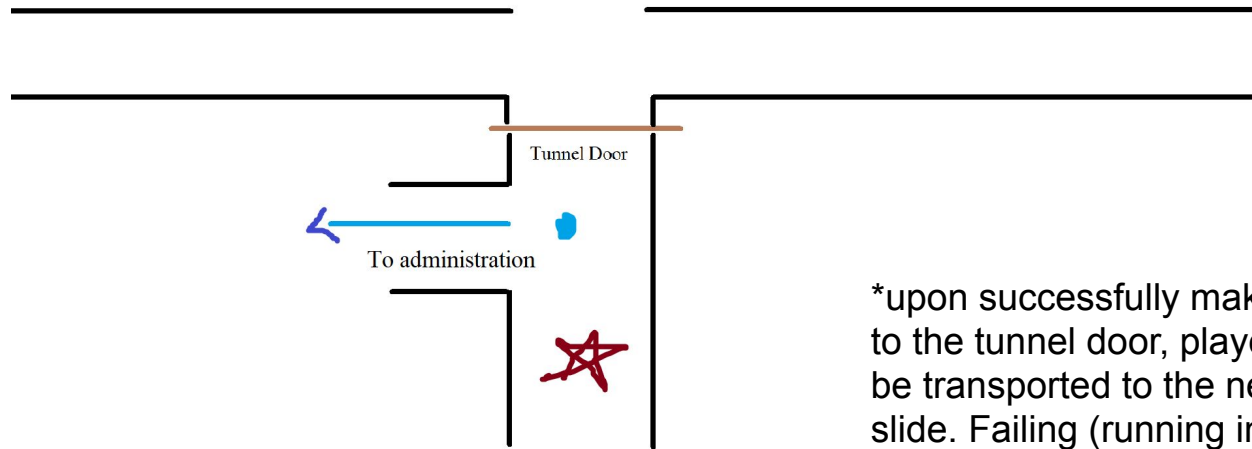

The maroon star on the map marks your current location.

Back the map

Mini Game: Avoid Administration

You are the red star. Move your cursor to navigate to the tunnel door and successfully avoid getting caught by administration (the blue dot).

*upon successfully making it to the tunnel door, players will be transported to the next slide. Failing (running into the blue dot) will result in the mini-game starting over.

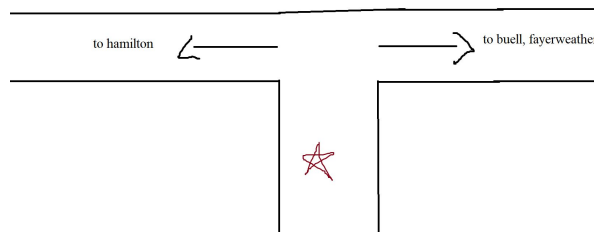

Back the map

Philosophy Tunnels

The Tunnels

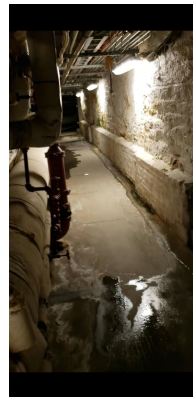

- At this intersection, you've officially entered the tunnels.
- Be careful because the ceilings are low and these tunnels are infrequently used by others.
- Take a right to head over to check out Buell.

The maroon star on the map marks your current location.

move to next slide

Take a Right

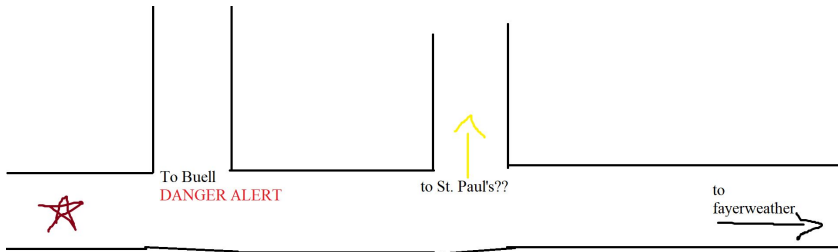

Back the map

Philosophy Tunnels

Buell Connection

- Here, if you're bold enough, there's a door that's rarely unlocked. This door leads to a stairwell that leads Buell.
- Buell houses the oldest tunnels on campus, left over from the days when it was a mental asylum.
- These tunnels are almost never traveled by anyone and are extremely dangerous.

The maroon star on the map marks your current location.

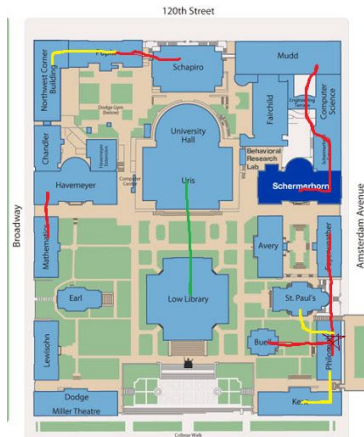

move to next slide

Check out
Buell

I'm too scared

move to slide 11

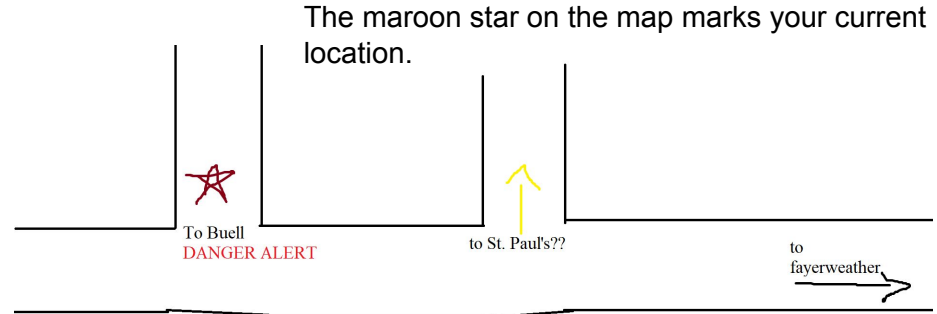

Back the map

Philosophy Tunnels

Buell Stairway

- This is the stairway leading to Buell tunnels.
- These tunnels are sweltering, cramped, and very dangerous. We do not recommend going here unless you are extremely prepared and have at least one other friend.
- We will leave the details of these tunnels as a secret, for those who want to explore the unknown.

move to next slide

Continue to Fayerweather

Back the map

Philosophy Tunnels

Fayerweather Connection

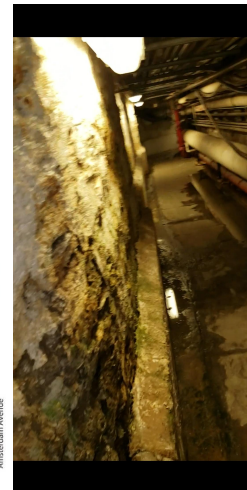

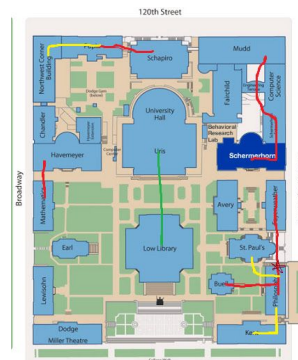

- Ahead lies the connection to Fayerweather
- This area of the tunnels is often flooded with water and there is a wooden board you can walk across to proceed to the other side

The maroon star on the map marks your current location.

move to next slide

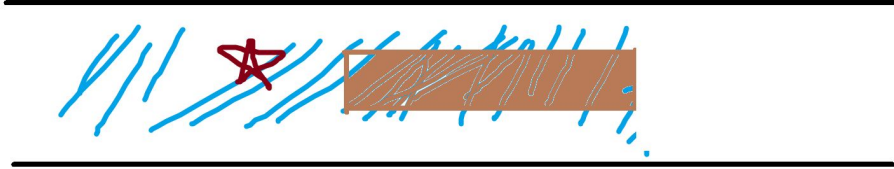

Walk across the board

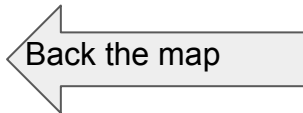

Back the map

Mini Game: Walk Across The Board

- Move your cursor (the maroon star) across the board without falling into the water!

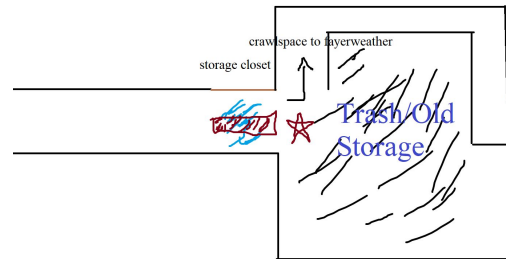

- Upon successfully doing this, users will be transported to the next slide

Philosophy Tunnels

Fayerweather Connection Room

- Congratulations on making it across the board! You can now continue to proceed to Fayerweather

- To continue your journey you must use the crawlspace that leads around the rubble here

move to next slide

Continue

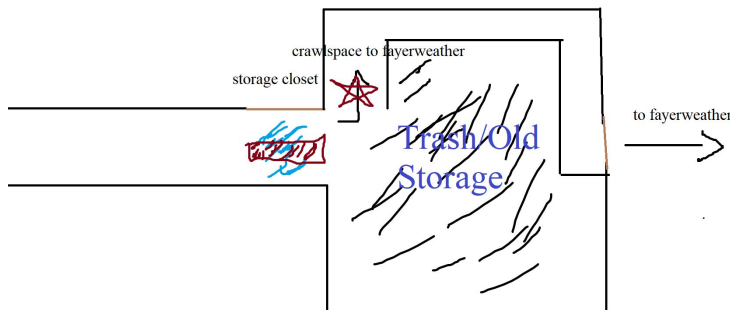

Back the map

Philosophy Tunnels

Crawlspace

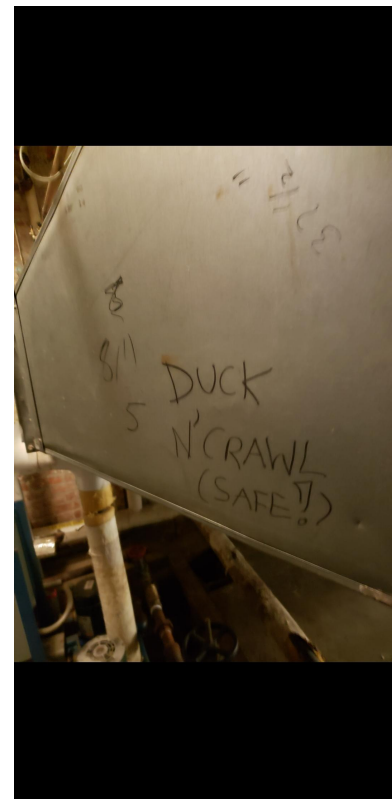

The maroon star on the map marks your current location.

- To continue to Fayerweather, take the crawlspace to your left. It is a bit of a tight fit, but it is safe.
- This will take you to the entrance of Fayerweather

Crawl

move to next slide

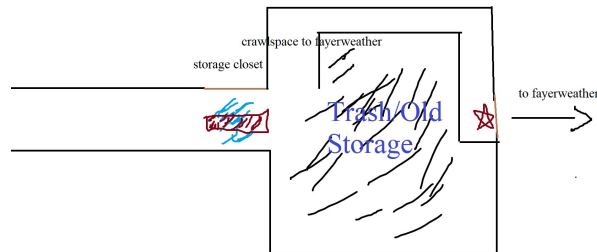

Back the map

Philosophy Tunnels

Fayerweather

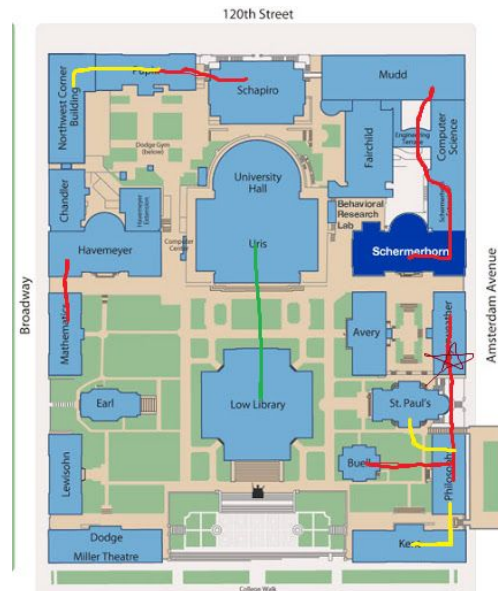

The maroon star on the map marks your current location.

- The crawlspace will take you to a door that takes you to Fayerweather. Take the stairs up, and you're now in Fayerweather!

Finish the tour!

move to next slide

Tour Conclusion

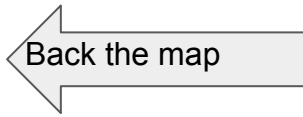

Congrats! You have successfully navigated your way through the tunnels from Philosophy to Fayerweather!

move to next slide

Take the Quiz

move to slide 3

Restart the Tour

Tunnels Quiz

Which of the following places has some of the oldest and scariest tunnels in all of Columbia?

- A. Philosophy
- B. Lowe Library
- C. Buell
- D. Butler

*users will receive feedback and upon
clicking the correct
answer will be taken to the next question

Back the map

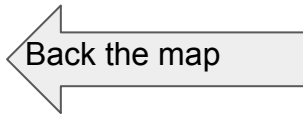

Tunnels Quiz

You're located at the red star and want to get to Fayerweather. How can you do this?

- A. A crawlspace
- B. An elevator
- C. You can't
- D. A ladder

*users will receive
feedback and upon
clicking the correct
answer will be taken to
the next question

Tunnels Quiz

Which of the following buildings can you NOT directly get to from the Philosophy tunnels?

- A. Hamilton
- B. Fayerweather
- C. Buell
- D. Butler

*users will receive
feedback and upon
clicking the correct
answer will be taken to
the next question

Congrats! You're now ready to explore!

Congratulations on making it through the Columbia Tunnels site! You're now ready to gather up a few friends and apply your knowledge. Please remember safety is the #1 priority. Don't venture out alone and try to avoid going into restricted areas!

To learn more history about the tunnels check out the WikiCU: <http://www.wikicu.com/Tunnels>. Please note that much of this info is outdated however and this website is the most up date to information available online.

Missed something?

Take the Tour Again!

move to slide 3